4. HUD Continuum of Care Funding Threats to Maryland

Danielle Meister, DHCD

- Assistant Secretary Danielle Meister provided updates on HUD's proposed changes to the Continuum of Care (COC) program funding, which would have significantly reduced permanent housing support and introduced restrictive eligibility criteria. Danielle explained that these changes were blocked by a court injunction, requiring HUD to return to the previous funding approach. She outlined the potential consequences of the proposed changes, including a $46 million cut in permanent housing, the displacement of 2,400 households, and increased costs to other systems of care. The discussion also covered efforts to secure bridge funding, advocate for automatic renewal of 2024 grants through Congress, and communicate with landlords and tenants about potential funding gaps.
- Christine Hong, the Chief of Services to End and Prevent Homelessness in Montgomery County, provided updates on the response to HUD policy changes in Montgomery County, where 70% of federally funded housing could be lost. Christine detailed the county's advocacy efforts, including engaging community leaders, landlords, healthcare networks, and faith communities to raise awareness about the consequences of reduced funding.
- Amy Kleine shared Baltimore City's experience with the NOFO process, highlighting the emotional toll on providers and the challenges of planning under uncertainty.

- The group also discussed the importance of documenting the effectiveness of supportive housing and protecting Housing First programs at the state level. Kevin Lindamood emphasized the need for a well-funded public education campaign to counter misconceptions about housing-focused solutions and addressed the demoralizing effects of repeated funding challenges on service providers, emphasizing the importance of maintaining staff morale and institutional knowledge.

5. HR 1 Medicaid Impacts on Homelessness

Henry Gillespie-Hill, MDH

- Henry Gillespie Hill presented on the implementation of the Medicaid provisions in the OBA (Omnibus Budget Act), which will result in approximately 175,000 Marylanders losing coverage and $2.7 billion in federal funding lost annually. The presentation outlined multiple work streams, including communications, data and systems, staffing, and planning documents, with key implementation dates in October 2023 and January 2027. Henry highlighted that MHBE will prepare consumer notices by September 2026. The presentation concluded with a discussion of staffing needs and a timeline of expected enrollment drops, with the greatest drop expected in July 2027 due to 6-month redeterminations and work requirements.
